

Charity's Views on Homosexuality

During my discussions of the Holy Bible with Charity, my Spiritual Professor CIE, during 1995, I tried to cover as many controversial topics as possible, to get her view, and that of The Creator, on those subjects. One of them was homosexuality. Here is what she said to me on that topic.

Ralph: Now here they mention homosexuality.

Charity: That is not a mental illness. You have been a homosexual in your prior lifetimes.

Ralph: This we have a political battle about all the time, whether or not somebody is born homosexual or whether they become that way. Would you care to make any statement about why some people are innately attracted to a person of the same sex instead of the opposite sex?

Charity: Each human has to experience all avenues of everything. The ones that are starting now or condemning the homosexuals will be homosexuals themselves.

Charity paraphrased: In each lifetime, each human has to experience all types of living situations. The spiritually immature ones that are starting now or who are condemning the homosexuals will be homosexuals themselves in their next lifetimes.

Ralph: This will be one of their lifetimes, whether they choose it or not?

Charity: Of course.

Ralph: Ten percent of the population are homosexual, if you add them up. In any culture, any group, any nation, about 10% prefer the same sex for their attraction. And they just happen to be the group who have problems?

Charity: They don't have a problem.

Ralph, Well, we have the religious right who look in the Bible, and it clearly says there that man should not do that. God disapproves of that. It says so right there.

Charity: Show me where it says that.

Ralph: I'm not going to pull the Bible down because I'm not a religious writer, but I've heard it quoted, but you can find anything quoted there, too.

Charity: We have already stated –

Ralph: Men wrote it.

Charity: Right. The Creator does not care.

Ralph: In many books I have on Jesus' teaching, people writing these manuals were writing to large groups, not to individuals, and in large groups, homosexual behavior does not keep children being produced, so that is not good for increasing the worker population. So they wouldn't want that since you wouldn't have enough children to do all the jobs you have in an expanding economy. So it's not good for the group. But for that 10%, it's true.

Charity: It was written by man.

Ralph: Written by man, OK. We don't have a God up there that hates homosexuals, is that what you are saying?

Charity: The Creator does not hate.

Ralph: Well, you can hear all these people on TV talking about what He doesn't want.

Charity: It is what the humans want, and they use The Creator by stating that – they are always using Him.

Ralph: They use him as a bully boy, somebody with a bat who is going to hit you if you don't do what they want.

Charity: Why would The Creator design some humans with homosexuality and some that are not? Some are gifted in music and some are not. Why did The Creator not design all humans to be the same?

Ralph: Nobody's figured that one out.
